

SAVE OUR STREAMS

IZAAK WALTON LEAGUE OF AMERICA

Your streams need you!

The Izaak Walton League's Save Our Streams program is the only nationwide program training volunteers to protect waterways from pollution and bring information about water quality to their communities. Since 1969, we've been teaching volunteers to study stream health and report their findings to decision-makers. Across the country, Save Our Streams volunteers are uncovering pollution problems and urging their local leaders to take action on water quality.

The best part - you don't need to be a scientist to participate! You just need to care about the health of your local waterways. What are you waiting for? Visit iwla.org/sos to learn more, begin your training online, and find a Save Our Streams field training near you.

Ready to get started?

Visit iwla.org/sos
or scan the QR code

For questions or to schedule a training, email sos@iwla.org